The Association of Pan African Doctoral Scholars (APADS) welcomes your interest in becoming a member of our organization.

APADS is a support organization that fosters and provides mentoring support for Pan African students and scholars. We are concerned both with ensuring the academic success of students pursuing a doctoral degree, and supporting the professional development of Pan African scholars in educational, research, and corporate settings. We pursue this endeavor by "mentoring," networking, examining institutional policies and practices, and information exchange. Based on educational tracks that focus on degree pursuit strategies, professional development, and scholastic advocacy, we are a multifaceted non-profit organization interested in developing our community through the successes of our members.
